CATCH FORGER WHO JUMPED FROM A TRAIN

Alonso J. Whiteman Run Down by Detectives After Long Search.

HAS A LONG RECORD.

College Student, Gambler, Speculator and Policeman Among Roles He Has Played.

WAS FOUND IN HIS HOME.

After He Had Been Captured Last September He Leaped from Fast Express.

Alonso J. Whiteman, who at various times of his life has been college student, gambler, wheat speculator, bank president, Mayor of Duluth, a State Senator, a member of the National Democratic Committee, the king of forgers and the moving spirit in the notorious Knox-Whiteman band, was captured by Pinkerton detectives and the Buffalo police early to-day in his home in Danville, N. Y. Whiteman has been at large since Sept. 23, when he jumped from a moving train between Dunkirk and Elmer Creek.

All the account of the detective intelligence of the Pinkerton men were brought to bear upon the capture of this man, who is perhaps the most interesting criminal of his time. Co-operating with J. J. Goodwin, superintendent of Pinkerton's National Detective Agency, was Chief of Police Bull, of Buffalo, and Detective Sergeant O'Connor and Schuch of that city.

Whiteman's house was entered last night while he was in bed on the second floor. He heard the men coming, jumped out of bed and ran to the upper where he hid. Here he was found and handcuffed. Seeing that resistance would be useless he surrendered in the easy, graceful way which has characterized most of his arrests. He was taken in a carriage to the nearest railroad station, and then to Buffalo, where he is now held at Police Headquarters.

This particular crime, with which Whiteman is charged occurred after July 3 at Buffalo, when a messenger called at the Fidelity Trust Company with a letter typewritten, on what purported to be the business paper of an East Aurora (N. Y.) firm, and signed "F. H. Hubbard," who appeared to be a member of the firm. Indeed with the letter was a draft for $5,000 to Hubbard's order by the cashier of the National Hudson River Bank, Hudson, on the Leather Manufacturers' Bank of New York City.

The Fidelity Trust Company, of Buffalo, after allowing what they considered sufficient time to elapse for the draft to pass through the exchanges, and not being advised that it was irregular, permitted Hubbard to check against the account to the extent of $2,500 by the issuing bank, but were subsequently advised that the $5,000 accepted by them from Hubbard was originally issued for $5,000 from which amount it was raised.

Under Many Aliases.

The Pinkertons thought they could put their hands on the parties engaged by Whiteman in the swindle. They found that the man who had posed as Hubbard was Joseph Boothman, an old-timer with a string of aliases. He checked out the amount named while Whiteman kept in the background.

Whiteman's career, of crime carried him across the continent, took him to the big cities of Europe and made him the mark for the biggest detectives of the country. He occasionally came from Danville, where he was a gambler, a prominent banker and lumberman. As a boy he showed an aptitude for study and was sent to Hamilton College. He graduated with honors and then began to take up the study of the law.

As a Wheat Speculator.

Wheat speculation was bringing men big fortunes in those days, and Whiteman fell in line. His fortune was close to a million of dollars and he staged it all. The market went against him and he lost dollar by dollar until his fortune had disappeared. The gambling spirit, ever alive within him, took him to the race tracks, where he lost and won. Finally that too proved too slow for Whiteman, and he began his life of crime. Operating with five ex-convicts he organized the Knox-Whiteman band for sums which aggregated hundreds of thousands of dollars. The entire band was broken up, and Whiteman has been arrested twenty-three times on charges of felonies, indicted seventeen times, tried four times and sentenced to an aggregate of sixteen years imprisonment. He has been in jail for a period of three years awaiting trial or appeal. He has only served one year's actual sentence. Many of the New York City hotels entered by his cleverness in raising drafts.

HELD UP IN DAYLIGHT ON COLUMBUS AVE.

John Fiske Little Is Thrown Into Hallway This Afternoon.

ASKED FOR MONEY.

When Demand Was Refused the Thief Attacked and Attempted to Rob Him.

CAUGHT BY POLICEMEN.

Victim of the Hold-Up Is Manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Another daring attempt to hold up a pedestrian on the street took place shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon when John Fiske Little, manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, at Nassau and Cedar streets, was attacked in Columbus avenue, between Sixty-fifth and Sixty-sixth street, by a man, who demanded money. Upon being refused and openly resisted, he grabbed Mr. Little by the neck and threw him into a hallway.

The attack on the insurance man was frustrated by a patrolman from a downtown station, who was passing, and who, assisted by Capt. Conroy, of the West Twenty-ninth Street Station, placed the man under arrest after a bitter fight.

According to Mr. Little's statement he was walking north on Columbus avenue when he saw a man of large build, dressed in a suit, walking alongside him. Little, and told the latter that he wanted money and wanted it badly, and if he did not get it Mr. Little would be sorry.

Mr. Little said he told the man he did not have any money, and the latter muttered something under his breath. When opposite the hallway of a building midway in the block the stranger grabbed Mr. Little by the coat collar and dragged him into a hall. In the hallway the insurance man was thrown so violently against the wall that his head was severely injured and he fell to the floor.

RACE TRACK, NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 28.—A programme of more than ordinary merit was offered at the Fair Grounds to-day, and with moderating weather the attendance was above the average of holiday occasions.

The feature of the card was the Audubon Selling Stakes at a mile, in which a number of speedy horses were named to go, including Gay Boy. The race was worth $1,000 to the winner, and it had additional interest in the fact that Capt. Jim Williams's Phil Finch, which the Kentucky turfman estimates to be worth $15,000, was one of the starters.

Another event that held the attention of the crowd was a six-furlong condition race that brought out the Eastern horses Rapid Water, Grand Opera and Gay Boy.

Street's Toboggan also made his final bow to the public. Western performers, such as Hands Across, Julee, Greengrass and Florentine, were opposed to this trip.

TALENT LOSES HEAVILY TO-DAY

Favorites Were Beaten by Long Shots in First Three Races at Hot Springs, and as a Consequence "Bookies" Won.

HOT SPRINGS WINNERS.

FIRST RACE—Mutual Benefit (8 to 1) 1, Two Step (5 to 1) 2, Rathen 3.

SECOND RACE—Parvo (15 to 1) 1, Mint Boy (3 to 2) 2, Minna Baker 3.

THIRD RACE—Martius (6 to 1) 1, Dundall (15 to 1) 2, Maraschino 3.

FOURTH RACE—Canton (6 to 5) 1, Baikal (10 to 1) 2, Copperfield 3.

(Special to The Evening World.)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 28.—The card was dignified by a stake this afternoon named after the Arlington Hotel. The distance is seven and one-half furlongs, which is the very worst spot on the track to start a race, being almost on the sharp bend of the first turn.

There was the best crowd of the week in attendance, though the weather was raw and threatening. The track was fast and betting brisk.

Mutual Benefit Had Speed.

La Gold was the favorite in the first race, but got no money. Mutual Benefit, an 8 to 1 chance, made all the running and won cleverly by a length from Two Step, who beat Rathen a head for the place.

Parvo Cashed at 30 to 1.

The chosen in the second race were easily based on Parvo, an outsider, who raced to the front at the start, made all the running and won easily by a length from Mint Boy, who beat Minna Baker a head for the place.

Martius Beats Dundall.

Yverna, a heavily-played favorite in the third race, was badly beaten, though ridden by Hildebrand. Dundall, who appeared to be full of speed, to-day rushed to the front at the start and made the running to the last sixteenth, where Martius came with a rush and won by a head. Dundall was two lengths in front of Maraschino.

ENGINEER VICTIM OF THE BLIZZARD.

Dead After Bringing His Train Through Storms and His Fireman Is Ill.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—William Wise, fifty-two years old, an engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad, is dead from exposure during the storm last Wednesday night. Edward Lapp, of Berwind, Pa., his fireman, a narrow escape.

Wise on Wednesday night brought a train from Harrisburg to this city. At Bradford Hills, about thirty miles west of this city, his train collided with a snow plough and the engine was slightly damaged. Fireman Lapp went back to flag the train following and nothing was heard of him until he was found ill at his home to-day.

When Wise reached the West Philadelphia station he asked to be relieved from duty. He was ill and went to the Presbyterian Hospital, where he succumbed to blood poisoning.

Fireman Lapp states that he remained at Woodline station all of Wednesday night, and managed to keep from freezing by building a fire of railroad ties. He was picked up the next morning by the crew of a train from Philadelphia. Lapp is suffering as a result of exposure.

OYAMA CLAIMS VICTORY AT ONE BESIEGED POINT

Russians Admit 1,045 Killed and Wounded, of Whom 45 Are Officers—Mikado's Men Fail Once More to Take Lone Tree Hill.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 28.—A telegram from Chansiamutun says the Russians lost forty-five officers and 1,000 men killed or wounded in the capture of the village of Sandepas Jan. 26.

The Russians took 102 Japanese prisoners, besides arms, wagons and ammunition.

The General Staff has received the following despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin's Chief of Staff:

"Our troops continue on the offensive at Sandepas. South of there our cavalry encountered four Japanese battalions and six squadrons of cavalry advancing from Heikoutai. The Japanese fled, throwing their arms into ambulance wagons. One of our columns took thirty prisoners and another captured twenty."

BIG BATTLE GOING ON.

MYKDEN, Jan. 27—10:44 P. M.—(Delayed in transmission).—A general engagement is progressing. Only the left flank is not involved. The hospitals here and at Harbin have been put in readiness to receive large numbers of wounded, of whom about a thousand have already arrived at Mykden. Several hundred Japanese were made prisoners.

The battle commenced on the right bank on Gen. Kuropatkin's initiative. The Japanese were driven back five miles from their advanced positions defended by the reserve brigades. The fighting extended to the centre.

JAPS AGAIN FAIL AT LONE TREE HILL.

The Japanese endeavored to take Postoff (Lone Tree) Hill and positions, but were driven back with heavy loss.
